In Home Supports Supported Living Services

Supported Living is designed to help adults with diverse needs live independently, confidently, and safely in their own homes, shared living environments, and community. Supports are directed towards enhancing and maintaining daily living skills, self-advocacy, communication and social skills, transition, tenancy supports and adopting healthy lifestyle choices through a person-centered approach.

Home Share

SACL contracts with paid community members who are willing to share their home and life with people with developmental disabilities. Home Sharing is for people who want to share a home with a family, couple or single person who will help them build relationships and enjoy their community. Home Share providers may also help with self-care, meal preparation, and other life skills.

In a Home Sharing situation, the person receiving support and the Home Share provider or family live as equal participants in the home, sharing a close relationship that supports inclusion, growth and opportunity for all. Home Shares help people make friends, develop meaningful relationships and take part in the community, all while keeping strong connections with their loved ones. All contracted Home Share providers must go a thorough screening process.
